As Elba continues to lose officers to other agencies able to pay more money

Police Chief pleads with city council to help find a solution to the problem

by Linda Hodge, Editor

Police Chief Leslie Hussey pled with Elba City Council members Monday night, Aug. 9, to help him find a way to pay his police officers more money in an attempt to stop the revolving door that continues to plague the department. "It is my place to take care of our city just as it is you all," Hussey said during the council meeting. "You all have a heck of a burden looking after everyone, and I appreciate that. I know the answer [to this problem], but how we arrive at it is up to you all."

The chief said the city had to find a way to offer police officers more money to keep them in Elba rather than going to other agencies where they can make much more money.

Hussey said he would be losing another officer as of the 17th of this month. With that, he said the police department would be down four officers, and on top of that, he said he currently had one officer out of work with a shoulder injury and another out with COVID-19. Also, he said he currently had a dispatcher out with COVID too.

"This problem did not occur on your watch...I understand that," Hussey said to the council. "This is something that has been going on for years, but it has to be corrected. That is the burden on you all."

He said when the department gets good, quality people that the city needs to be able to retain those employees.

"The people of Elba deserve quality officers and service just like anywhere else," Hussey said. "If these folks were leaving us for 50 cents or a dollar an hour, I couldn't understand that. But, they are leaving to go places making almost $4

THE ELBA FIRE DEPARTMENT RESPONDED Monday morning, Aug. 9, to a vehicle fire at the Christian Mission store on Buford Street in Elba. The fire was reported at 11:25 a.m., and a short time later, the volunteer firemen had the blaze under control preventing it from spreading. It is believed the fire began as the result of an electrical or mechanical issue. The owner/driver of the vehicle was inside the Christian Mission store when the car began smoking and ultimately burst into flames. Reportedly, she had been to the grocery store prior to stopping at the Christian Mission store. The vehicle was a total loss, but no injuries resulted from this fire.

County BOE members approve TEAMS contract employments for ten teachers within system

The Coffee County Board of Education held its regular meeting for August inside a new classroom at New Brockton Elementary School on Thursday, Aug. 5, and following the meeting board members joined school officials for a ribbon cutting officially opening a new 12-classroom addition to the school.

During a work session prior to the meeting, board members were given explanation of TEAMS contracts, which stem from the Teacher Excellence and Accountability for Mathematics and Science (TEAMS) program. The program is an aggressive plan to combat an issue with unfilled math and science teacher positions in grades 6-12 all across the state.

For those who qualify to be a TEAMS contract teacher, those teachers could earn up to $15,000 in additional pay each year through the TEAMS Salary Schedule Program, provided by the state.

It was explained to Coffee County BOE members that qualifying teachers within the school system sign three or five-year contracts. They are paid a supplement (stipend) to be a TEAMS contract math or science teacher.

As of last Thursday's work session, administrators said six science teacher slots had been applied for out of 13 total for the school system, and four math teacher slots had been applied for out of 13 total for the school system.

Chelbie Mobley, all teacher at Zion Chapel School.

Also, during the board meeting, three certificated personnel employments were approved. Carolyn Broaden was hired to be the federal programs and elementary curriculum coordinator for the school system. Teresa Deal was hired as a teacher at New Brockton High School, and Dillon Davis was hired as a teacher at Zion Chapel.

Regarding support personnel, the resignation of Brenda Senn, bus driver for Zion Chapel, was approved. Her last day of employment was Aug. 6th.

During the Coffee County Commission meeting Monday, Aug. 9, county engineer Marty Lentz presented the Fiscal Year 2022 County Transportation Plan for approval. The plan included resurfacing projects on County Roads 107, 377, 418, and 147.

Total estimated cost for all these projects would be $1,553,000 and would cover 12.78 miles of roadway in the county.

The County Road 107 project would be 3.92 miles of resurfacing and traffic striping from County Road 105 to County Road 110.

Kit Johnson (left), pastor of First Baptist Church Elba, is shown speaking to Coffee County Commissioners earlier this week about the upcoming REPRESENT event being planned by the Coffee County Baptist Association Youth Committee. County Commissioners approve FY22 Transportation Plan

Estimated cost for this project would be $375,000.

The County Road 377 project would be 3.66 miles of resurfacing and traffic striping from County Road 376 to U.S. Hwy 84. Estimated cost for this project would be $460,000.

A CHAMPIONSHIP RING CEREMONY will be held Thursday, Aug. 26, at 6 p.m., inside the Elba High School auditorium for Elba High School's 2021 AHSAA Class 1A/2A State Champion Golf Team. The ring presentation ceremony is open to the public to attend.

County Baptist Association Youth Committee regarding the REPRESENT event set for Saturday, Aug. 28, from 3-5 p.m.

"The REPRESENT event is a county-wide youth event," Johnson said. "The idea behind this event is to allow teenagers to see they are not doing the Christian walk alone."

He said the event targets teenagers in grades 7-12, and it will include competitive games, along with a youth worship rally. Pastor Johnson will speak at the event, where he said he would connect REPRESENT with Jesus.

"We want to appeal to the competitive nature of teenagers by offering various competitions," he said.

Fortunately, no injuries resulted. Chief Hussey said the suspect was later arrested.

Also, Hussey said the department received a call Sunday, Aug. 8, regarding a person at the Food Giant having some sort of mental issue. He said officers made contact with the individual, and after a brief discussion, EMS was contacted.

"This person volunteers to go with EMS to get help," Hussey said. "Our officer follows them up the road, and before they get to the funeral home, the individual is fighting with the medics in the back of the ambulance. They pull over, and the individual was arrested."

Hussey said the individual later admitted to taking drugs.

"That is just one example of how quickly things can go south on us," Hussey said.

Elba Police Chief reports on recent incidents

Reporting on police department activity Monday night, Aug. 9, at the Elba City Council meeting, Police Chief Leslie Hussey said it had been a busy few weeks.

On Sunday, Aug. 1, he said officers investigated a sodomy incident involving a 16-year-old and 6-year-old.

Then, on Wednesday, Aug. 4, he said the department received a report around 7-8 a.m. of a shooting that took place at earlier in the day at approximately 4 a.m.

"Our investigation revealed a male and female, let's say boyfriend and girlfriend, were sitting in a vehicle talking when the girlfriend's husband drives up and wants to talk to his wife," the chief said. "They have words and the husband goes to leave. But, as he does, he pulls out a gun and fires at least five rounds, striking the car and breaking windows out."

Moderna recommends a COVID booster shot. Medical experts think such action is premature. We had already decided to ‘wait’ before taking the booster until things are a bit less muddy. Most things, even a glass of water, can be dangerous if over indulged.

The Delta coronavirus variant continues to prove its threat as it races through the unvaccinated (and to a lesser degree - vaccinated) population at a disturbing clip. Then the news is filled with short bits about one or more variants that are beginning to move through the population. The world has long experienced new strains of the flu but they didn’t crop up as quickly as these new variants of COVID 19. All this is noted but yours truly is ashamed to admit that we don’t have a clue of how to solve this major health issue. Personally, it means a return to wearing the mask and all the other safeguards that have been recommended. That will not keep us immune but should reduce the odds of contracting (or transmitting) the virus.

Florida governor Ron DeSantis clearly has national political ambitions. Nothing else can explain to us as to the position he has taken on the COVID prevention suggestions. We predict that the long-term negative fallout from this virus will make his presidential ambitions just that . . . ambitions and nothing more. The same goes for the governor of Texas.

There has been flooding in Salt Lake City in recent days . . . is it possible this will help slow the continuing drop in water level in the Great Salt Lake? For several years Americans have been reading that the water level of this inland salt lake was continuing to drop. We were in that area several years ago and the idea of a flood – flash or whatever – in that part of Utah would have activated a not-so-quiet snicker from our mouth!

Our book reading has not slowed down, we have just neglected to talk about it. Last month the featured book was ‘First Friends’ about several presidents and their very closest friend and confidant (i.e. ‘first’ friend, a play on the term ‘First Lady’). One interesting tidbit was that of all eight presidents featured in the book, only one of the ‘First Friends’ showed any personal political interest. James Madison was first friend to Thomas Jefferson and then president himself. Of course President Madison did not gain the fame that was poured on to his delightful wife Dolly. Anyone who has eaten a sweet snack from the grocery store knows the ‘Dolly Madison’ label. Not near that many know about President James Madison.

Deciding to get away from the political books for a while the next read was ‘Mercury Rising’ the story of America’s entry into the space race. John Glenn and President Kennedy were the opening stars of the story but Glenn became America’s hero all the way to the end of the book. But alas . . . there is no getting away from politics. It is amazing at the politics that were entwined in the United States’ successful race into space and ultimately to the moon. A salute to author Jeff Sheson for his excellent job with this bit of history.

Be safe, wear your mask, social distance and wash your hands AND get the shot(s)!

August is National Immunization Awareness Month

August is National Immunization Awareness Month, and Governor Kay Ivey continues to encourage Alabamians to get the COVID-19 vaccine. Governor Ivey has been rooting for this vaccine since before it was even on the shelves. Her message remains simple and consistent: if you can get the shot, roll of your sleeve and get one.

Cuzin Lou Lou and Sister ventured out with friends to a ‘try-out’ a Tuscan grill last weekend, and while Lou Lou thought the food was scrumptious, Sister was not too impressed. And, she let Lou Lou know it since it was Lou Lou’s idea to try the place!

The Yonder crew, minus Papa and little Bean [they stayed at home for this trip] decided some really good Italian food would hit the spot last Saturday night, and since the group was ‘out of town’ for the weekend, Lou Lou went to the local restaurant reviews to find a recommended spot. The Tuscan grill she found seemed to be a favorite for many, so, she convinced the crew to load up and head on over to the joint.

Sister was caught off guard and looked like a deer facing headlights when the first question asked as the crew entered the restaurant was, “Do you have a reservation?” Country had come to town because the crew was not expecting that nor were they necessarily ‘dressed’ for the place.

One member of the crew wanted to know, “Do we need reservations?” But, the maitre d assured everyone that it was ‘okay’ to be there without a reservation, and she promptly moved to sit the Yonder crew, a party of four including Lou Lou and Sister along with friends.

Lou Lou looked around and assured the group they were fine...even little man who was decked out in his athletic shorts and t-shirt. Sister and little man’s mom were too sure they believed Lou Lou, but it was too late to turn back now!

The waitress came and filled the water glasses, took drink orders, and then delivered a table serving of bread. Along with the bread came an olive oil dip – that one had Sister giving Lou Lou a suspicious eye to which Lou Lou said, “Just be gentle with it, and everything should be good. You just don’t want to oil it up too much!”

Sister did not find that one funny.

Lou Lou ordered an appetizer for the table – fried ravioli, and it was wonderful! Yet, Sister did not agree. She didn’t like the cheese inside the fried ravioli.

Sister ordered a salad, and again, it was only okay. It was one of those famous ‘weed salads’ so Lou Lou was glad she did not go that route!

Knowing the crew better stay on safe ground, especially since Sister was already giving Lou Lou the “I can’t believe we listened to you” look, the table order a pepperoni pizza to share for the meal’s entrée. Finally! Something Sister agreed was delicious!!

Before the meal was completed Lou Lou decided that she and little man were the two most ‘refined’ at the table, however, the other two quickly said that was a big ‘ole NO! The funniest part of the experience was when the waitress let the table know there was a special appetizer for the night...she began explaining and as soon as Lou Lou heard the word escargot, she politely let the waitress know that would be an “escar-NO: for their table. Overall, Lou Lou enjoyed the meal, and she would definitely return, but, someone else is going to have to accompany Lou Lou on that next trip because Sister let her know in no uncertain terms that she would not be returning. Lou Lou thinks she was just mad because she was unprepared to be asked about having reservations...she should have lagged behind and not been the first one in the door!

Lou Lou has always known Sister is a ‘picky eater’ but she really showed it in visiting the Tuscan Grill. No Italy visit in her future!!

Oh well...Sister got Dippin Dots later that night, and all was right in her world again! Until next time...Keep Smiling and God Bless!!

A RIBBON CUTTING WAS HELD last Thursday evening, Aug. 5, on the campus of New Brockton Elementary School celebrating completion of construction for a new 12-classroom addition at the school. School board members, Superintendent Kelly Cobb, former superintendent Kevin Killingsworth, local queens and others gathered around the ribbon as Principal Holli Richardson made the official cut. New Brockton Elementary staff, town leaders, and local supporters also were in attendance for this special occasion. Afterwards, all were invited inside to take a tour of the new facility. School began Friday, Aug. 6, and students entered the hallway of the new addition for the first time.

THE COFFEE COUNTY BOARD OF EDUCATION held its regular monthly meeting last Thursday evening, and this meeting was held inside one of the new classrooms of the new classroom facility at New Brockton Elementary School. Pictured above is Superintendent Kelly Cobb and board chairman Brian McLeod during the meeting.

COFFEE COUNTY BOARD OF EDUCATION chairman Brian McLeod (right) and vice chairman Galen McWaters (back) made a special presentation last Thursday evening to former superintendent Kevin Killingsworth. He was presented a plaque in appreciation of all his hard work throughout the construction of the new 12-classroom addition at New Brockton Elementary School.

The chief also said he could not blame the agency that is getting the officers. He said he wishes he had the ability, like that agency, to "cherry-pick" a "smaller agency and go after their best people. He said everyone is having trouble these days and being able to get quality officers from other agencies is part of the game, one Elba is losing the battle too.

"Maybe we can't hire anybody, but maybe we can keep the ones we do have," Hussey said. "Like I've said...I know it's a heck of a burden and money is tight, but we've got to do something. We are just throwing money down a rabbit hole right now."

The chief said he would be glad to sit down with the council and discuss whatever could be done to try and fix this problem, but he said he feels strongly that something must be done so that the people of Elba will get the quality service they deserve.

In other business regarding the police department, the council approved a request from Chief Hussey to declare Car 3 [a Dodge Charger] as surplus equipment to allow it to be sold to a small municipality in Covington County in the amount of $3,000 [upon approval by that town's council].

Hussey said he would be asking the council to surplus more of the Dodge Chargers in the near future.

claim of a portion of right-of-way on County Roads 460 and 461. This will allow ALDOT to proceed with a highway safety project planned for that area.

County EMA director James Brown provided a COVID-19 update to commissioners, and he noted the increases in number of cases and hospitalizations had been going up at alarming rates over the past week or so for the county and state.

"Many hospitals are at or over capacity now," Brown said. "Some have stopped elective surgeries again until further notice."

Two weeks ago, Brown reported 870 hospitalizations for the state due to COVID. On Monday, he said there were over 2,000 people hospitalized due to the virus or a variant of the virus.

Brown said Coffee County was showing 264 new cases ever two weeks [or 19 per day] at the last commission meeting. As of Monday, he said they had increased to 270 new cases every seven days [or 39 per day].

"At our peak, we were seeing 58 per day," he said. "We are not there yet, but we are rapidly getting there."

Brown did note the vaccination rate had gone up some in Coffee County since his last report to commissioners. He said, as of Monday, 32.3 percent of the county's eligible residents had received at least the first vaccine dose while 25 percent had been fully vaccinated.

"I can't tell you when this thing is going to peak again," Brown said. "The rate of growth for hospitalizations is enormous. All we can do is continue to encourage everyone to get vaccinated, wear masks, social distance, wash your hands, etc. We just don't know when the peak will come or how long it will last."

Brown further encouraged citizens to get tested if they are showing signs of illness. He said to not just assume it was allergies or sinuses but to be tested instead.

Community colleges to offer STEM dual enrollment scholarships

In response to the Legislature's expansion of opportunities that encourage a stronger employment focus for math and science teachers and other STEM-related fields in the state, the Alabama Community College System (ACCS) has expanded dual enrollment scholarships to high school students who are interested in taking college-level STEM courses through their local community college.

"Dual enrollment courses are a tremendous benefit to students as they not only provide a means to college credit but also allow high schoolers the opportunity to take in the college experience," said ACCS Chancellor Jimmy H. Baker. "Dual enrollment classes at community colleges are particularly beneficial as they're offered with the same one-on-one attention and smaller class sizes that students can expect at our colleges across the state. We are grateful to the Alabama Legislature for increasing this funding to allow even more Alabama students to participate in this valuable learning opportunity." Dual enrollment gives Alabama's high school students access to college-level classes that apply to credit in both high school and college at the same time. Unlike AP honors classes in high school, a student's grades for dual enrollment classwork are the only factor in determining whether the student receives full college credit for the class. The dual enrollment classes are delivered through a variety of methods, including high school students attending the local college in-person, online, or a college instructor traveling to the local high school or career center to teach.

Good Relief in Expressing Feelings

Too often, we think of grief as a negative thing. It's more accurate to say grief is a necessary and healthy way to process negative feelings. While it is uncomfortable to experience grief, it is a positive thing because it starts you on the road to healing.

When you lose a loved one, it can have a disruptive impact on your emotional and mental health, leaving you feeling unmoored. Keeping those negative feelings bottled up will only make the problem worse. The grieving process is how negativity can be properly channeled, articulated, and dealt with - paving the way for healing.

For this reason, the worst thing you can do during the grieving process is to try to stifle your emotions or bottle your feelings. Attempting to "keep it to yourself" means those negative feelings churn and rage inside you, which can have a corrosive impact on your well-being.

It's okay if there are days or even seasons when you don't want to talk about the way you're feeling - but ultimately, grief is something that needs to be processed out loud, whether that means talking with a close friend, a therapist, or the members of a grief support group.

Additionally, remember that grief can have different stages - and all of these stages can be good in their own way. Depression, denial, and anger can all be part of the grief journey. None of these emotions are particularly fun, but they can be helpful. Each one represents your mind trying to work out the sensation of loss.

Grieving is always tough, but it can also be productive - ultimately moving you into a healthier headspace. As you go through the good but hard process of grieving, remember to show yourself some patience and some grace.

Have You Reached Your Limit?

The term "Load Limit" refers to the weight or force something can endure without breaking down. Many things have an assigned load limit: bridges, airplanes, chairs, etc. We seldom think about this until we are standing at the back of a crowded elevator. A bridge may not collapse the first time an overweight truck travels across it, but damage is likely to occur, which could make a catastrophic failure more likely.

Did you know humans have load limits as well? I am not talking about how much physical weight a person can carry, I am referring to stress, mental strain, and emotional weight. There is no medical or psychological standard rating I am aware of, but each of us can only take so much before we breakdown.

Life can get heavy in a hurry. It could be sickness, a family tragedy, financial distress, problems on the job... these are just a few of the things which can weigh a person down until they are in danger of exceeding their "load limit."

In Psalms 61:2, David wrote, "From the end of the earth will I cry unto thee, when my heart is overwhelmed: lead me to the rock that is higher than I."

David was a man who knew about living under a load. Growing up, he had several older brothers; this made him the "low man on the totem pole" when it came to the day-to-day operations of the family business. As a young shepherd, David had to protect his flock from predators. At an early age, David had fame thrust upon him. He had the unbelievably hard job of being the assistant to an insane king, who would also become his insane father-in-law. David also suffered through marital problems. Then there were those troublesome Philistines! In fact, the word "overwhelmed" is in the KJV only eight times, and all eight are in the Psalms.

In Psalm 61:2 David demonstrates how to survive those overwhelming moments. First, he knew he needed the rock. The rock was his place of stability and security; strong enough to stand against any upheaval. Second, the rock must be higher than we are, above our wisdom, above our abilities. Third, David needed God to lead him to that rock. In times of crisis, we must be careful that our desire to flee, doesn't overcome our ability to trust. I love the words of the beloved hymn Living by Faith, "I know that He safely will carry me through, No matter what evils betide; Why should I then care though the tempest may blow, If Jesus walks close to my side."

Friend, maybe you feel you are nearing your "load limit." Perhaps you feel that a breakdown is inevitable. If so, take the words of The Lord Jesus to heart, "Come unto me, all ye that labour and are heavy laden, and I will give you rest" (Matthew 11:28). Jesus Christ is our rock!

Baby Dedication?

Christian parents know that children are a gift from God. Parents know that they are charged with teaching their children to follow Jesus. But what is the best way to make this commitment publicly? Some churches have "Baby Dedication Sunday." Even so, very few parents would presume that babies can be "dedicated" to specific service of the Lord as Hannah dedicated her future son. To recognize this fact, some churches have "baby introduction Sunday" where the attending adults – particularly the parents – dedicate themselves to instructing the child in the Christian faith. The result is more of a "parent dedication Sunday."

But what happens next? How do we daily demonstrate in concrete ways

Johnson said the desire is for the event to be enjoyable enough that the Coffee County Baptist Association Committee can offer it multiple times per year; however, for this first one, he asked commissioners to consider waiving the rental fee. His request was approved by unanimous consent.

More than 30 percent of Alabama's mayors have signed up during the last several days to help encourage Alabamians to get vaccinated, and others are joining daily.

The local leaders have enrolled in the We Can Do This Alabama Mayors' Challenge, an attempt to get a 20 percent increase in vaccinations by Labor Day, Sept. 6.

"With COVID-19 cases and hospitalizations dramatically increasing in our state, we are calling on everyone in a leadership position to help us fight this virus," said Dr. Donald Williamson, president of the Alabama Hospital Association, and speaking on behalf of the We Can Do This Alabama Coalition. "At this point it is about sharing information on a personal level, encouraging those with hesitation to talk with their doctor and other vaccinated friends and family members. We know that our mayors are trusted and respected in their communities, and we are extremely grateful for those who are stepping up to help."

Cargill and Continental Grain Company acquire Sanderson Farms creating leading U.S. poultry company

Cargill, Continental Grain Company, and Sanderson Farms, Inc. (NASDAQ: SAFM) announced this week they have reached a definitive agreement for a joint venture between Cargill and Continental Grain to acquire Sanderson Farms for $203 per share in cash, representing a total equity value for Sanderson Farms of $4.53 billion.

The purchase price represents a 30.3% premium to Sanderson Farms' unaffected share price of $155.74 on June 18, 2021, the last full trading day prior to media speculation about the potential sale of Sanderson Farms; a 22.8% premium to the Sanderson Farms 30-day volume weighted average price ("VWAP") as of June 18, 2021, and a 15.2% premium to the all-time high share price as of June 18, 2021. Upon completion of the transaction, Cargill and Continental Grain will combine Sanderson Farms with Wayne Farms, a subsidiary of Continental Grain, to form a new, privately held poultry business.

The combination of Sanderson Farms and Wayne Farms will create a best-in-class U.S. poultry company with a high-quality asset base, complementary operating cultures, and an industry-leading management team and workforce. The new company will be well positioned to enhance its service to customers across retail and food service and drive organic growth in an industry fueled by affordability and key consumer trends around the health, sustainability, and versatility of chicken.

"Since my grandfather founded Sanderson Farms 75 years ago, our many significant achievements have been driven by our commitment to providing the very best chicken products in a profitable manner that benefits each of the constituents who contribute to our success. This transaction is the culmination of that commitment, as it delivers a significant value to our stockholders, reflecting the dedication of our team, and our best-in-class assets, quality products, efficient and sustainable operations, and respected brand," said Joe Sanderson, Chairman and Chief Executive Officer of Sanderson Farms, Inc. "We are proud to be joining with Cargill and Continental Grain and we are confident that they will be strong stewards of the Sanderson Farms team, brand and assets going forward. As part of the newly created company, Sanderson Farms and its new owners will remain committed to the employees, poultry producers, customers, communities, environment, and animals under our care, and to continuing to deliver the highest quality products and the best service in our industry to our customers."

"We are very happy to partner with Cargill with whom we have had a decades-long relationship between two family-owned companies. Sanderson Farms' operations, best-in-class assets and valuable brand have underscored their success, and we have the highest respect for Joe Sanderson, and the business and team he has built as the third generation CEO," said Paul Fribourg, Chairman and CEO of Continental Grain. "Wayne Farms has been one of the most important and successful parts of Continental Grain for almost 60 years, so bringing together two great partners with two great poultry companies will ensure good things for our customers, our grower partners, and our employees."

The new company will have state-of-the-art operations and will continue to invest in its workforce and in employee safety. Operations will include poultry processing plants and prepared foods plants across Alabama, Arkansas, Georgia, Louisiana, Mississippi, North Carolina, and Texas.

"At Cargill, we are committed to nourishing the world in a safe, responsible and sustainable way," said David MacLennan, Chairman and CEO of Cargill. "Expanding our poultry offerings to the U.S. is a key enabler of our ability to meet customer and consumer demands. With these great businesses, and our strong partnership, we believe we will deliver a superior portfolio of products and services to our customers."

Cargill expects to support the new joint venture with its longstanding relationships with retail and foodservice customers. Wayne Farms, part of Continental Grain's food, agriculture and commodities investment portfolio since 1965, has roots in the poultry industry that go back more than a century.

Cargill and Continental Grain have long histories of investing and partnering with American farmers and are dedicated to strengthening the food and agriculture industries for the benefit of consumers and growers. Their shared culture, built on the principles of supporting farmers and communities, complements Sanderson Farms' reputation as one of the industry's most respected operators. Sanderson Farms' strong brand, reputation, and best-in-class assets will remain a core part of the combined company. In addition, Wayne Farms' deep customer relationships across the food service sector complement Sanderson Farms' diverse grocery and retail relationships.

The transaction is expected to close by the end of 2021 or early 2022, and will be subject to regulatory and Sanderson Farms stockholder approval, and other customary closing conditions.

The acquisition consortium has committed equity and debt financing in place to complete the transaction.

Wayne Farms CEO Clint Rivers will lead the combined company.

Upon the completion of the transaction, Sanderson Farms will become a private company, and its shares will no longer be traded on NASDAQ.

The Pressbox

By Ricky Mularz, Sports Editor

Well, school started last week and our grandson Lawson is now officially in the fifth grade. He attended several different daycares during his early years as his Mom began her career in education, but has been a student at Elba for the past six years, including kindergarten, and can now say he a true Elba Tiger!

For what it is worth....

 The Elba Tigers pulled on the pads over the weekend for a trip down to Miller Memorial Stadium for a scrimmage and it was good to see that the number of players wearing the black and gold of Elba High had grown greatly over recent years. Coach Sieving and his coaches have been hard at work rebuilding the program since last season and it looks like the hard work is paying off. With a trio of 3A teams on the schedule and a host of very talented region foes to battle the schedule will be anything but easy. However, I've got the feeling that is just how Coach Sieving and his Tigers want it, and are determined to be a 2A contender.

 I know every team in the area is undefeated at this point in the preseason, but I have been reading about the teams in the area and am convinced optimism is contagious! Brantley will begin the season ranked #1 in Class 1A, while Zion Chapel returns its big men in the trenches on both sides of the ball and is ready to play its brand of smash mouth football, Kinston has some very talented players and has no doubts it will be a playoff contender, and New Brockton is filled with skill folks and massive people up front and can't wait to hit the field. The season is only one week away and it's time to find your team colors and get ready to support your favorite teams.

 I completed the preseason look at the schedules of the teams in the area this week and maybe now all area fans can make their plans to support their favorite teams. One interesting note was the teams the area teams have on their schedules that were outside their regions. 2A Elba, which is 4-13 against teams in higher classifications since 1984, will play a trio of 3A opponents in Daleville, Opp and Providence Christian, while 2A Zion Chapel, which is 0-2 against teams in higher classifications, will play a trio of 1A foes in Kinston, Samson and Pleasant Home; 3A New Brockton, which is 0-5 against teams in higher classifications, will take the field against 2A Cottonwood, 1A Georgiana, 4A W.S.Neal and AHSAA newcomer Northside Methodist; 1A Kinston, which is 0-4 against teams in higher classifications, will oppose 3A Houston Academy, 2A Zion Chapel and 1A Barbour County; and, 1A Brantley, which is 5-14 against teams in higher classifications, will play 2A Luverne, 2A Highland Home and 5A Charles Henderson. The non-region opponents give you an idea of what kind of team the area teams expect to have and where they are looking for extra wins on the ledger.

 The officials at the University of Alabama gave their approval to Coach Nick Saban's new contract last week and the new eight-year deal is worth $84.8 million for the Crimson Tide's ultra-successful football coach. The contract includes $800,000 per year for each year from 2021-2025 that Saban remains the head coach, and also includes other possible bonuses that could make it even more lucrative. It was the sixth time Coach Saban has received a new contract since he arrived at Tuscaloosa back in 2007, and while the salary has risen from $4 million to over $10 million per year, most Bama fans and school officials obviously believe the coach is worth the money since annual athletic revenue during that time has skyrocketed from $67 million to $189 million. Just to help you understand what Coach Saban makes, his monthly paycheck will now be $725,383.41.

 In closing, I urge all high school football fans to go ahead and call their school offices and find out just how they will purchase game tickets this season. Many schools went to internet sales only last season and didn't sell tickets at the gate, and it would be a shame for a carload of fans to head out and then not get to watch the game. Just a thought. Of course, if you do have to sit in your car you can always listen to me on the radio and I'll do my best to keep you informed of what is going on. It's probably better to attend the game in person.

Season opener Aug. 20

Tigers are ready to hit the field

With the kickoff of the high school football season only a week away, Elba coach Marc Sieving reports his Tigers are ready to play.

"We still have a lot of work to do in a very short time," stated Sieving, "but the players are ready to get on the field and I'll admit that we as coaches are anxious to also get the season underway. Last week was the official start of preseason practice and we went out three days in shorts and helmets and one day in shorts and shoulder pads. We had a scrimmage Saturday night and got to watch the players in a game-type situation, but with just two weeks in pads before our first game it forces us to probably try to get a little too much done in a short period of time."

"Playing on the first possible date is not always the best thing to do," added Sieving, "but it does give us an open date before the opening round of the playoffs. So, I guess either you get an extra week of work before the season starts or you get a week before the playoffs to recover after the ten week regular season. Next season the AHSAA will allow teams that do not have spring training to begin fall practice a week early, and that will be something I expect a lot of teams to take a look at."

"This week has been a busy week as we have been doing a lot of hitting and have begun to get ready for an opponent," aid Sieving. "Everyone is still working hard to improve in everything they do and we are working to come together as a team at the same time. The learning process never ends, whether before the season, during the season or in the off-season, and we are still learning every day as players and coaches. We have a big senior class that has stepped forward and is providing leadership to the younger players, and we are looking at the seniors to accept the challenge ahead and leave their legacy as Elba Tigers."

The Tigers will conduct another scrimmage on Friday, Aug. 13, on the high school practice field, with officials present, as the learning process continues toward the season opener on Aug. 20, at Daleville.

CHRYSTYLE CALDWELL.... made a verbal committment last week to attend the University of South Alabama next season on a football scholarship. The Tiger senior is expected to be a leader this season for the Tigers on and off the field.

Elba ranked #8 in 2A

Brantley ranked #1 in preseason 1A poll

The Alabama Sportswriters Association released its preseason high school football rankings last week and sitting atop the Class 1A standings were the Brantley Bulldogs.

The Bulldogs were ranked #1 in the 1A poll throughout the season a year ago, but lost in the semifinal round to eventual state champion Linden.

Zion Chapel looks for winning season

The Zion Chapel Rebels will be looking to erase the 2020 football season from the history books this season as they return to their home field after a year on the road and are determined to return to their winning ways of the past. The Rebels, in their 60th year on the gridiron, struggled to a 1-9 record and a nine-game losing streak last season as they averaged 12.6 point per game and allowed 38.4 points a game. Zion Chapel has a 201-391-1 all-time record, but 121of the wins have come at home, and with five games at home the Rebels are looking to add to that total. Head coach Randy Bryant will be back for his fifth season leading the troops, and has a 14-27 record, including one trip to the playoffs. Following is a preview of this season's schedule:

KINSTON
Zion Chapel will kick off its season on the road against its cross-county rivals from Kinston. The Bulldogs are coming off a 2-7 season in which they averaged 13.3 points a game and allowed 29.3 points a game, and enjoyed their last winning season back in 2014. Over the last three years the Bulldogs record is 7-22. Coach Rudy Free will be back for his third year and owns a 5-14 record.

ABBEVILLE
Zion Chapel will swing into region play in week #2 when they hit the road for a clash with the 2020 2A state runners-up from Abbeville. The Yellowjackets have posted four straight winning seasons and last season averaged 38.9 points a game and allowed 20.9 points a game in its run to the state finals. Coach LaBrian Stewart is back for his second year with the 'Jackets and has a 12-2 record.

ELBA
Zion Chapel will finally play at home in week #3 when it hosts the Elba Tigers, in a key region match-up. The Tigers have posted 14 straight winning seasons, but came in with a 6-4 record a year ago and missed the playoffs for the first time since 2006. Elba averaged 38.6 points a game and allowed 23.5 points a game a year ago under first year head coach March Sieving.

HOUSTON COUNTY
Zion Chapel will be back on the road in week #4 when it travels for a region contest with the Houston County Lions. The Lions averaged 17.7 points a game and allowed 34.8 points a game a year ago as they stumbled to a 1-9 record, their third straight losing season after back-to-back winning seasons in 2016-2017. Head coach Chip Harris will be back for his second year with the Lions and in sixteen years at numerous schools has a career record of 84-86.
